

The Puppy Papers

We're pleased to announce, 'The Puppy Papers' ~ a series of writings by our most venerated and enlightened member of the CPS family, Sammy The Show Dogg.

As sage and guru to all, having been trained, educated and capable of melding the sciences and the arts / philosophy with physics / practical sense and economic cents, Sammy will opine on matters pertinent to those who seek truth, happiness and the American way to a path of pupification.

Through his writings, Sammy will endeavor to answer the essential questions, and comment on significant issues, of the day. Questions may be submitted by attendees, exhibitors and pretty much anyone else who has a pet . . . or is a pet. Sammy will respond to current events, offer historical reflections, or present spontaneous insights to answer all who ask . . . or don't ask . . . may never even think to ask . . . and such.

To reach Sammy, address your questions to:

Sammy will, as time permits, choose any matter which has relevance in our daily life, fascinates his imagination or titillate his powers of reason. Once he's analyzed the subject matter and animadvert (he likes that word) thereupon, he will report his thoughts – pithy or lengthy – whenever, whatever and wherever his mind may take him . . . as retold and published on this web site by his interpreter, assistant and biographer, Papa J.

We hope you'll find these Papers both educational and amusing. Check back as frequently as you may, given your busy schedule. We're certain you'll find something that will make you money, or make you smile – the two qualities most dear to Sammy.

Good Day,

Sammy  . . . & Papa J
